ABSTRACT

An RF semiconductor device is fabricated from a starting substrate comprising a polysilicon handle wafer,

a buried oxide layer over the polysilicon handle wafer,

and a silicon layer over the oxide layer.